INDIGO

Large enough to have traction, small enough to offer a boutique and hands-on service, Indigo Entertainment is a global distributor and co-producer of all genres.

Indigo will work with you to propagate even the seed of an idea and bring it to screen. We always respect the ownership and creative core of our producers' work, but we can offer expert advice on commerciality and long-term returns. Diversity is at the heart of what we do: we are proud to have championed and capitalised content from across the world, to the world, since 1998.

We have worked with content from the BBC, ITV, National Geographic, Discovery, UKTV, Channel 4, Arte, ABC Australia, Norris Brothers, Arclight, IAC, Vestron, Nasser Entertainment, David Blaine, Red Bull and more. Premium drama series, feature films, TV movies and magical Christmas specials are as much a part of our work as bluechip natural history, factual programming, and premium feature documentaries, or as live action children's programming, or high-end animation—we pride ourselves on being deeply versatile.

With our new line-up, Indigo is delighted to launch a diverse mix of scripted and unscripted titles, many available immediately or due in 2023.

Be inspired with Indigo.

AROUND THE SUN

A tale of love, reason and realising you're not the centre of the universe.

A film location scout is shown around a crumbling, repossessed French chateau. Over the course of an afternoon, he slowly falls for both the place and the owner's flirty representative, who recounts the story of a famous book set there. But is their present-tense connection for real, or just a projection of the book's 17th-century characters?

MIRACLE AT THE INN

A glossy and candescent Christmas special featuring performances from some of the world's biggest stars.

A coach full of celebrities finds itself battling against terrible weather on its way to a live performance at a TV station.

The blizzard is so bad that travel is impossible, when the driver notices a sign for an inn. The anxious travellers pile inside and instantly feel welcome and strangely at home – the inn is curiously familiar! Despite it being Christmas Eve and fully booked, they plead with the staff to accommodate them, whilst accepting they will no longer make the TV show.

One of the stars tries to contact the studio, but all lines are down. However, the receptionist recalls a TV programme having been filmed here previously and proposes they use the equipment to transmit the event from the inn. The show will go on!

The old equipment is retrieved, dusted down and a line is finally connected to the studio to confirm the broadcast. A night of family entertainment lights up the inn with sparkling performances of classic Christmas hits including:

Baby It's Cold Outside – duet from Sir Tom Jones OBE and Barbra Streisand

Christmas Mashup – exclusively arranged and performed by Barbra Streisand

Merry Christmas Darling – Dolly Parton

Let it Snow! Let it Snow! – Sir Tom Jones OBE

White Christmas – full cast

Echoing White Christmas and a golden age of television spectacle, Miracle at the Inn is a festive delight for all ages.

QUEENS

A passionate historical drama of two powerful women in a man's world..

Europe is a world in transition, made and designed by men, marked by the questioning of papal authority in politics, and the weakness of the Holy Roman-German Empire.

With Europe gripped by the Protestant Reformation and the Political Counter-Reformation, the Papacy is weakened and suspicious, keenly observing the development of the three richest, most powerful kingdoms, all capable of raising powerful armies: France, England and Spain. Inevitably the monarchs are fierce rivals, vying for supremacy, security and their lives!

In this determined power struggle, the Queen of Scotland, Mary Stuart, is just a pawn in the conspiracies being hatched between the Papacy, a declared enemy of Elizabeth as the head of the Anglican Church; Philip II of Spain, determined on his crusade against Protestantism and on maintaining his vast domains; his former mother-in-law Catherine de Medici, the intelligent, astute regent of France, and the person who would be heir to the Scottish Crown and a traitor to his own mother, Prince James.

REACHING DISTANCE

A cynic's attempts at vengeance are thwarted by increasingly strange interactions with passengers on the night bus.

Things take a turn for the bizarre as Logan is knocked unconscious and awakes to find himself trapped in a loop of time and space. As he battles to find a way to escape, the line between his memories and reality breaks completely.

Visions of his dead sister and traumatic memories replay within the confines of the bus. The bus itself transforms into an aquarium, cinema and nightclub, among many other painful experiences from Logan's past.

As the heart-wrenching truth is uncovered, Logan is faced with the decision between confronting those who have hurt him most and learning to forgive, or fulfilling his quest for revenge at an unspeakable cost.

"Punchy and compelling, Reaching Distance is a smart, inventive slice of local genre filmmaking."

"A mind-bending thriller that's part 'The Matrix', a shade of 'Groundhog Day' and completely bonkers, Reaching Distance marks the arrival of a talent to watch in writer/director David Fairhurst."

ULTRAMAN

A vintage franchise that shows no sign off waning.

In 1966, a television franchise was born that has thrilled and entertained audiences around the globe for more than half a century! Eiji Tsuburaya (the Godfather of Tokusatsu) made his name with Godzilla, Rodan and Mothra and building on that success, he launched his own studio with the concept: Ultra Q!

A revolution in TV content had arrived – airing in primetime on TBS – Ultra Q was an overnight runaway success. Ultra Q evolved into the landmark global phenomenon ULTRAMAN, and, to date, Tsuburaya Studios have produced dozens of TV series, theatrical movies, anime and huge merchandising lines, even recognised by the Guinness World Book of Records. The original series established new heights of quality adventure and special effects-driven entertainment and built a worldwide audience for the property.

Hailing from the distant Nebula M78, ULTRAMAN is a sleek silvery being who merges with a human form and has the ability to extend his height to over 150 feet. He emerges in times of extreme danger to protect Earth and the human race from an array of invading aliens and terrifying monsters.

The Ultraman Catalogue includes all series and features since 1966 to present day.

Based on true events.

To protect her eleven-year-old son Yuryk from being deported to Russia, Ira must send him away to safety, to meet his aunt for a new life in Estonia. Ira has already lost her daughter, father and husband in the war and knows she will never see her son again if the Russians take him. She herself cannot leave the city as she is caring for her bedridden mother.

But first, this brave and innocent young boy must travel war-torn Ukraine alone, relying on strangers and his own wit. Will Yuryk reach the border alive and well and in time to meet his family?

A moving tribute to what it means to be human: to the strength, determination and resilience within us all, not least innocent children. The film is the first from Ukraine to explore what war means for its children. The plot demonstrates how a life of modern well-being splintered virtually overnight, leaving chaos and destruction in its wake.

Indigo is honoured to partner on this essential, moving and inspiring film and will be supporting the children of Ukraine with proceeds from sales.

The film follows Begona Cao, Miyako Yoshida, Mary-Helen Bowers, Karina Gonzalez and Tara-Brigitte Bhavnani on their journey of physical and mental joy and pain, agony and ecstasy to find out what it means to be an athlete whilst also fulfilling the job of a mum.

DOGFIGHT

The pilots' fight is not just in the air and in this action dramatised series about WW2 airborne killers, we witness the unthinkable. This is pilots not politics!

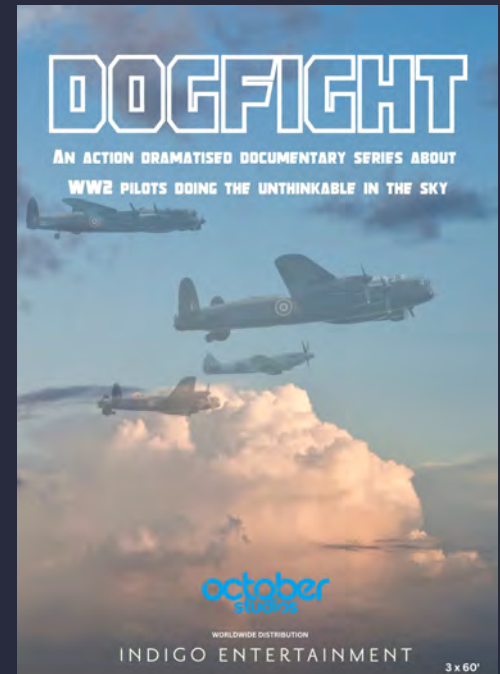

While we focus on fighter pilot Douglas Bader – an extraordinary rule breaker who leads from the front - we interweave the lesser-known stories of the elite pilots on both the Allied and the Axis sides. Including Bader's Canadian wingman William McKnight: young and aggressive, but beneath the swagger is a man suffering extreme anxiety due to combat trauma. And there's their nemesis - Adolf Galland flying in the Luftwaffe. A man infamous for inventing brutal carpet bombing techniques and known to fly in swimming trunks while smoking a cigar!

DOGFIGHT unfolds while the world burns, and pilots take to the skies to face their own death and bringing death to others. Nobody expects to live long enough to be accountable for their actions. Expectation is to be burned, suffocated or dropped from the sky wrapped in a blazing metal coffin. The pilots in DOGFIGHT are flying aerial battles in ever faster killing machines without practice runs. These young pilots learn on the job. These real life superheroes do battle over the Dunkirk evacuation, Battle of Britain and eventually further into Europe.

These are personal stories with global significance. This is DOGFIGHT.

FORGOTTEN SOLDIER

A quest for the unsung hero of World War II

Zoë Wanamaker narrates a powerful true story weaving the present into the past as Sally Noach's daughter unravels the incredible history and the truth of his noble heroism that saved hundreds of lives in the Second World War.

Sally's refusal to tell his family about his actions during the Second World War meant that his children had little idea of their father's massive rescue operation in Lyon in the early 1940s. Almost four decades after the Dutch businessman's death, his daughter, Lady Irene Hatter, embarks on a journey to find the truth behind her father's bravery.

Why was he so reluctant to talk about what he did during World War II? Was he, as some claimed, a profiteer, running the Black Market in Vichy France? Why did he come to the attention of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and fall out with the Dutch political elites? What is the meaning of the hundreds of letters from survivors around the world claiming he saved their lives?

Living history as this extraordinary mystery - both public and private - is revealed.

GREAT RIVERS OF EUROPE

Narrated by Australian soprano Greta Bradman

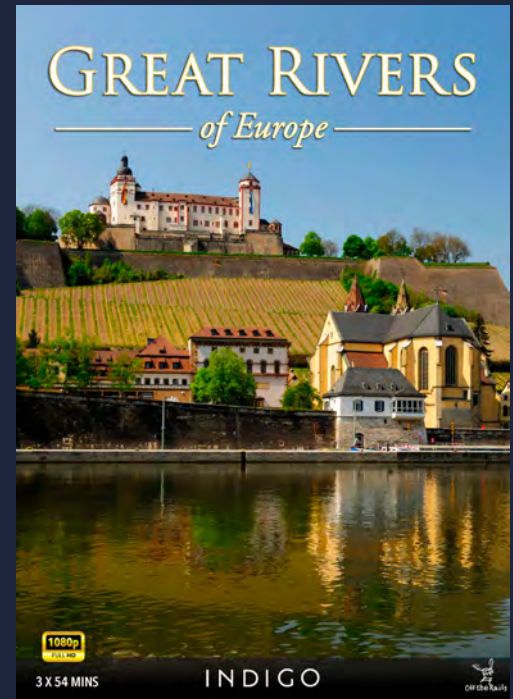

Go with the flow! Cruising the Rivers of Europe - Budapest to Vienna.

From the very start of civilisation – and probably even before – rivers have been the lifeblood of trade and travel. Just about every city of note around the world – and especially across Europe – was first established beside a river.

Rivers have inspired art, literature and music. They have been the source of legend, myths and folklore. Their flowing waters not only sustained life, but enabled connections with a wider world, facilitating the flow of ideas, theories and beliefs, the very building blocks of society. So, it's not surprising that we connect so deeply and innately with rivers, from romantic encounters to adventurous escapades.

Australian soprano Greta Bradman is a recitalist, concert and stage performer. Since commencing her professional career in 2010, primarily as a concert classical singer, Greta has presented more than 1,000 performances with orchestras, including all major orchestras in Australia.

LUTHER Vs ROME

Narrated by Sir David Suchet

How a hammer and nail changed the world.

Martin Luther was a reluctant rebel who stood against the power and might of Rome, a most dangerous stance to take and, in doing so, unintentionally changed the world.

When Martin Luther nailed his 95 'points for discussion' to Wittenberg's Castle church, his quiet life exploded into an international confrontation, an argument with the Pope, and ultimately, the Protestant Reformation. A simple monk pitted against the might, power, and money of Rome. But while the religious, social and political consequences have been much discussed, we reveal a fundamentally human story of honesty, faith, and fortitude.

Luther was by no means a saint, but the great reformer lived a life full of passionate conviction. From a life-changing lightning strike as a young student, to his death bed, he put his faith deeply in his God. He was earnest in his convictions, even at the expense of his life! Today, the Lutheran Church bears his name and is spread all over the globe. A humble monk shaped the western world as we know it!

THE PILGRIM'S WAY TO GREAT BRITISH CATHEDRALS

Hosted and narrated by Sir David Suchet

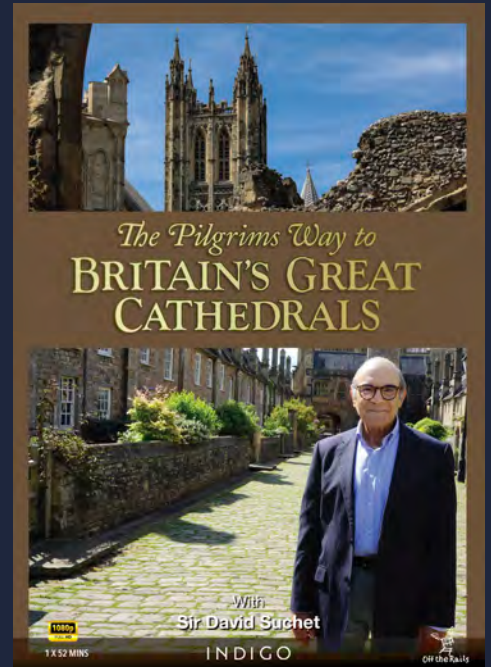

Suchet takes viewers on a pilgrimage through England and Wales, visiting Britain's great cathedrals. We will explore some of the old and well-worn pilgrim routes and a few of the newer ones which have been created as more people today feel compelled to take to the road in search of spiritual solace and reassurance.

In this three-part series, we will visit twenty-five of Britain's cathedrals and abbeys along with the ruins of some important sacred sites. We will explore many of the ancient traditions which took people of faith on often long and perilous journeys in search of miracles, healing or some tangible confirmation of their religious beliefs.

"I truly hope this series will provide you with some insight into why people of faith... and, indeed, many without faith... continue to feel compelled to go on these journeys in search of enlightenment, reassurance and solace. Perhaps you might even be convinced to follow in their footsteps. I'm quite sure that you too, will find it a truly rewarding experience, as I have." Sir David Suchet

PROJECT ONE

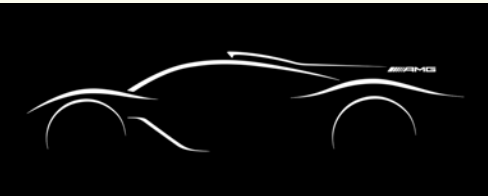

The car that made history before it was even built.

In 2015 Mercedes-AMG set out to crack one of the last barriers within the automotive industry: the first street legal Hypercar with F1 Technology.

What started with big promises from the AMG Management and highest expectations from not only a handpicked crowd of 275 buyers but the automotive industry and beyond soon turned into a project that put the image of the entire Mercedes group at stake: misfires, problems, delays, frustrations, tensions within the management and the teams, and the rising pressure from all sides.

Mercedes-AMG granted exclusive and unrestricted access to their teams, management, partners and buyers to enable Cutting Edge to document the definitive and raw story of a breathtaking moment in automotive history.

Interviews with Lewis Hamilton, David Coulthard, Susie Wolff, Victoria Swarovski, FIA president Dr. Ben Sulayem, but also the AMG management, engineers, mechanics, designers, software developers and car builders grant an ultimate - and honest - insight into all aspects of the PROJECT ONE.

THE RACE FOR SPACE - TO THE MOON & BEYOND

Meet the 'real' Guardians of the Galaxy!

The Race for Space examines a future just a few years away where space tourists travel on awe-inspiring trips to space hotels, sign up to land on the Moon, and even head to Mars on missions lasting several years – perhaps never to return. But can space travel ever become as routine as, let's say, airline travel back on Earth? What are the health risks of living in space long-term? When - and how - will the first baby be conceived in zero gravity? And in the event of a space emergency, who are the elite 'Guardians of the Solar System' preparing to bring you safely back down to Earth?

None other than Operator Solutions, a unique space training and rescue force working with the biggest current space players, including NASA and Axiom Space, as they devise and test the revolutionary safety kit and procedures needed for future missions beyond Earth's orbit. We will follow their every extreme step as they implement innovative training programs to prepare the rapidly growing number of civilians and private astronauts for upcoming space missions, including a visit to the International Space Station.

THIS IS GREECE

Hosted by Dr Michael Scott (Renowned academic, author and broadcaster)

Narrated by Sir David Suchet

Join historian Michael Scott as he takes us across mainland Greece and the Aegean islands to explore its fascinating history from antiquity to today.

Modern Greece offers amazing insights into our own history and culture - the birthplace of democracy, and modern political thought. We uncover the centre of learning and philosophies that shaped the world, revealing the way in which ancient and modern empires, religions and nations have clashed in war and worked together in peace.

Whether it is the ancient Oracles of Delphi or the continuing warm hospitality of Greek communities and families, Michael will guide us through a land with much to teach the modern viewer about our past and our future. With stunning photography of the beautiful Greek landscapes, historical and social insights, talking with the locals or even teaching us what kind of coffee to order, Dr Scott provides a tantalising insight into the country regarded as the birthplace of democracy.

TIM PEAKE'S SPACE ACADEMY

As humans prepare to return to the moon, ten young people take on the biggest challenge of their lives. Have any of them got what it takes to complete astronaut training?

Over four weeks, ten 12–15-year-olds will undergo astronaut selection and training, following the same challenging European Space Agency course as professional astronauts. With a series of gruelling physical challenges and simulated missions, the cadets will be pushed as never before. The pressure will be intense - all know that they may be eliminated at any point.

The last three standing will face a challenging final mission – to land a manned spacecraft on Mars as malfunctions and hazards threaten their survival.

All three cadets who reach the final will win a once-in-a-lifetime experience – a flight on a zero-gravity plane, affectionately known as the 'vomit comet', mirroring the weightless conditions in space. This will be featured in the last show.

The overall top cadet will also have the unique opportunity to decide on an experiment to be carried out on the International Space Station and will get the chance to see it being carried out in a live link-up.

WORD OF MOUTH

One city. Ten locals. All interconnected. This is the 'relay' format following the insider tips on every local's lips...

Word-of-Mouth is the whirlwind insider's guide to our favourite cities. Embracing spontaneity, our host ditches the guidebook and hits airplane mode to see where the city locals guide them. A New York episode might kick off with a taxi driver. Landing in JFK our host asks a cabbie to take them to their favourite local spot, once there the baton is passed to the bartender (for example) who shares their ultimate NYC experience and so on.

What is the ultimate bucket list experience from the ice cream vendor's point-of-view? Is the Statue of Liberty really the must-see monument – or might the ticket vendor at the Metropolitan Museum have a very different top tip destination? Who knows where the New Yorkers will guide our host and audience, but this unique format creates an original 'word-of-mouth' trail through our best loved cities, from those who know them best!
